THE HISTORY OF BOWLINGTOWN

Long before Buckhorn Lake was created and the park established in 1964, a small community flourished for many generations here along the Kentucky River.

By the late 1800's Bowlingtown was a thriving community of mostly farmers and coal miners. In 1960, when the construction of Buckhorn Lake began, Bowlingtown had to be abandoned and families relocated. The restaurant is named in their honor.

Today's lodge sits on the hill where the original log cabin schoolhouse was built in early the 1800's, replaced by a white frame schoolhouse in early the 1900's. The beach and swimming area is where children and adults alike played baseball.

You can learn more about the Bowlingtown history through a display in the lobby of the park.
